Help! Our boardwalk trails and footbridges are in major need of repair! Our trails are well loved by visitors, but Mother Nature has taken its toll and it is time to rebuild! The COVID-19 pandemic caused a surge in park users and a reconnection with nature. We embrace this new lifestyle and want to continue providing a healthy, safe, escape to our trails.

Volunteers and maintenance staff have been busy with repairs since 2015. But with over 4 miles of boardwalk trails, and the increased cost of lumber, there is still a long way to go!

Through the Somerset County Park Foundation, we have launched the campaign, “REBUILD the BOARDWALKS” to raise funds for materials to replace boardwalk trails at the Environmental Education Center.

Make a tax-deductible donation today and put us one step closer to achieving our goal of $10,000 by December 31, 2021.

The Somerset County Park Commission Environmental Education Center is located within Lord Stirling Park in Bernards Township, New Jersey. Nestled within 500 acres of the western portion of the Great Swamp, over 9 miles of trails consisting of 4+ miles of boardwalk trails and footbridges are open to the public for passive recreational use such as hiking, jogging, and bird watching. The Environmental Science Department oversees the park and conducts hundreds of programs each year for schools, families, individuals, and organizations interested in environmental education.
